July 2016

It's that time of year again! The Hamlet of Beavercreek is having it's 6th annual Beavercreek Flea Market & Craft Sale.

This year the sale will be held on Saturday, July 16, 2016, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Once again the food truck will be on site offering breakfast and lunch options.

To reserve a spot, call 503-632-8370 or email BCFlea@beavercreek.org. A 10' x 10' space is only $10; first come, first served!

A Sad Goodbye

Where to start! It has been great run, but all things have to come to an end at some point (at least that is what they say).

After living in the Beavercreek community for almost 33 years and being involved in the community on many levels, as well as in many capacities, my husband and I will be retiring in earnest and moving to the coast where I was raised. My husband has always loved the coast with its fishing, mountains and outdoor life. We will live between the Trask and Wilson Rivers with a wonderful view of his beloved mountains, so there should be no excuse for coming home empty handed.

It is with a heavy heart that I leave Beavercreek. It was in Beavercreek that I sprouted my wings and became the person I am today. It has been a learning experience to be sure, but I would not change a thing. I will miss all of you.

While being the Editor of the Beavercreek Bulletin I have made many friendships and met so many wonderful people. I will miss you all and remember you always. I think this is the hardest thing about leaving.

Hopefully, someone will come forward who will be interested in taking up where I am leaving off and take the Beavercreek Bulletin to new heights. Allow it to spread its wings and continue to flourish and be an asset to the community into the future. I believe it is paramount that the community have a voice to communicate with its citizens. If you would be interested in being a part in this endeavor please contact Tammy Stevens at 503.632.3552.

It has been an honor to have been your Editor and neighbor. I hope you have enjoyed the publication that would have turned 18 with the September issue. I wish you all the best. Thank you, Sharon Charlson.

Firefighters Rescue Ducklings From a Storm Drain

On April 25, 2016, Clackamas Fire's crew from Engine 1: Capt. Zach Brown, AO Blake Meyer, FF Craig Bowen, and FF Mark Koester rescued some ducklings who were stuck in a storm drain on Stevens Road in Happy Valley. AO Blake Meyer and Division Chief Doug Whitely were the actual rescuers of the ducklings.

There were two ducklings that fell into the storm drain and both were rescued. One of them was reunited with the mother; however, the other duckling was abandoned. After several unsuccessful attempts after the rescue to reunite the abandoned duckling with it's mother, a staff member happily adopted the duckling to raise at their home in Eagle Creek.

Oregon City House Fire

Firefighters were called to a report of a residential fire on June 4, 2016, at 5:00 a.m.

As the early sun was rising, the air was filled with heavy black smoke, as multiple neighbors described "flames through the roof" of the one story 1400 square foot ranch home located at 18878 S Rose Road in rural Oregon City.

Thankfully, the home was not occupied during the incident, and according to the home owner has been "vacant since last Christmas."

The 1974 structure was heavily involved when crews arrived, and due to several strategic decisions, defensive operations were employed to extinguish the large amount of fire that destroyed over 75% of the house.

No injuries were reported at the incident, and investigators are currently on the scene conducting interviews and searching for the cause of the fire.

Oregon Pasture Network Supporting Producers of Pasture-Raised Livestock

Friends of Family Farmers is excited to announce the official launch of the Oregon Pasture Network. If you are farming or ranching in Oregon and utilizing a pasture-based system, we invite you to apply today!

This statewide pasture network will support the growth of pasture-based farming in Oregon. OPN is a community of farmers, ranchers, food business owners and consumers who believe that raising animals on pasture is the most sustainable, humane way to produce animal products.

The OPN will help committed producers by connecting them to each other for networking and support, connecting them to existing resources and expert assistance, and by promoting them to consumers. OPN member producers will ultimately be part of Oregon's first-ever, statewide

Firewise Day At Beaver Lake Estates Held June 11

Clackamas Fire District #1 (CFD) partnered with the Oregon Department of Forestry (ODF) and the NFPA's resources to wildland fire. The program teaches people how to adapt to living with wildfire and encourages neighbors to work together and take action now to prevent losses. We all have a role to play in protecting ourselves and each other from the risk of wildfire.

If you would like additional information on how you can protect your home from wildfires and the Firewise Communities Program, visit their website at www.firewise.org.

6th Annual "Stars in the Park" Concert To Be Held Aug 13

The 6th Annual "Concert in the Park" concert will be held at the Korner Park in downtown Beavercreek on Au-

Firewise Communities Program on Saturday, June 11 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., at Beaver Lakes Estates, Driftwood Drive in Oregon City for Firewise Day.

At the event, CFD and ODF had information available on how homeowners could protect their homes from wildfire, hands on activities for children, and a barbeque. CFD and ODF staff and crews helped homeowners create defensible space around their homes. Following the event, ODF has arranged for a wood chipper to be available to Beaver Lake Estates residents in order to easily dispose of yard debris.

The Firewise Communities Program encourages solutions for safety by involving homeowners to take personal responsibility for preparing their homes from the risk of wildfire. The program goal is to reduce the loss of lives, properties, and gust 13, 2016. The event begins at 4:00 p.m.

The event will also be part of the Hamlet of Beaver-creek's Tenth Anniversary celebration.

There will be two artists performing at the event. Local artist Mark Seymour and his Seymour Baker Band followed by the Ellen Whyte Trio.

Food and beverages will be available to purchase. Please bring your chairs, blankets, etc. Questions? Call 503-632-8370.

New Oregon Farm Link Goes Live!

Friends of Family Farmers is dedicated to helping Oregon grow the next generation of family farmers. To that end, FoFF recently launched Oregon Farm Link, an online hub that connects beginning farmers and ranchers with land holders. In addition to hosting land holder and land seeker listings, Oregon Farm Link serves as a portal for those interested in getting involved in agriculture, with a board of job listings and a comprehensive resource library designed to assist farmers of all experiences. Go to http://www.friendsoffamilyfarmers.org/farm-link/

Since its launch in late May, Oregon Farm Link has been joined by more than 25 new land holders and land seekers. List your land, find land, post a job, look for a job, and find links for additional resources at FoFF's new Oregon Farm Link. Want to learn more? Contact FOFF with questions at farmlink@friendsoffamilyfarmers.org or 503-581-7124.

Libraries To Offer Summer Reading Programs & Prizes

Starting in June, the Libraries in Clackamas County (LINCC) will offer summer reading programs for children of all ages at all 13 libraries located within the County. Most LINCC libraries also offer summer reading programs for adults.

Last year, more than 17,500 readers signed up for summer reading programs. From adult readers to babies being read to by a parent or sibling, everyone can register to keep track of their reading this summer.

"Summertime reading is the best way to make sure kids are entering school in September as smart as they were in June," said Andrea Milano, Youth Services Manager at Lake Oswego Public Library. "It offers families an opportunity to learn new things, to set and achieve goals, and to celebrate the joys of reading together."

When teenagers and younger children reach their reading goals, they can turn in their reading logs to receive a free book, a Portland Trail Blazers ticket, an Oregon State Fair ticket, and a coupon for Oaks Amusement Park. Young children also get a reward coupon for Lakeshore Learning for Kids. Adult programs vary by library, but also include chances to win great prizes.

The libraries also offer many fun-filled events during the summer, including gaming parties for teenagers, movies and crafts. For younger children and families, magic shows, science events, puppet shows and juggling performances are among the scheduled activities along with weekly story-

Tax Scam Season Becoming Year-Round Concern

Tax Day was almost two months ago and, while most Oregonians have paid what they owe or received their refund, that's not stopping fraudsters from trying tax-related scams around the country.

The IRS reports that the latest variation on scammers' fraudulent collection calls is the bogus "Federal Student Tax." Like all phony collection calls, the caller will badger and threaten a person to try to get them to send money immediately--often via wire transfer or making a payment on an iTunes gift card or other prepaid card.

"We haven't heard about this specific scam hitting Oregon yet," said Ken Ross, who manages the Department of Revenue's anti-fraud efforts. "Whether it's this particular version or something else, we want to help Oregon taxpayers protect themselves from fraudsters throughout the year."

What can you do to protect yourself from tax-related scams, now or in the future? Revenue has some specific advice:

- * Don't talk to callers that are badgering, threatening, or trying to make you do something immediately. If you owe taxes or other debt, call the agency to which it's owed at their published phone number to talk about the situation.
- * Revenue will only call you about money you owe after at least one notice has been sent by mail. If you receive a bill in the mail, contact Revenue as soon as you can to discuss payment.
- * Check consumer protection resources, like the Department of Justice's webpage at www.doj.state.or.us/consumer and the IRS' scam tracker at www.irs.gov/uac/tax-scams-consumer-alerts, so you're aware of the types of scams happening and can better detect a scam if you become a target.

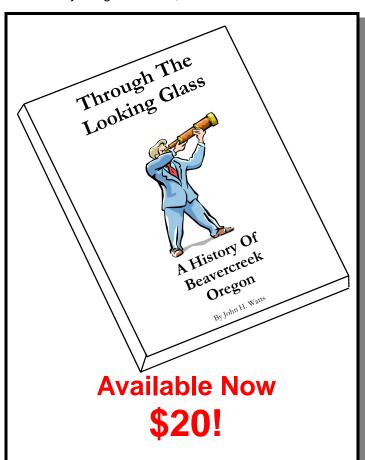

You can always review your State tax account through Revenue Online, a secure portal available at www.oregon. gov/dor.

Visit www.oregon.gov/dor to get tax information, check the status of your refund, or make payments. You can also email questions.dor@oregon.gov; call 503-378-4988 in Salem and outside Oregon; or call, toll-free, 800-356-4222.

year. By July, harvest of major crops like grass seed and wheat is in full swing, and it's not unusual for a farmer to spend 14-hour days on a tractor out in the field.

Sometimes farms have acreage spread over a wide region, and farmers must drive large, slow-moving swathers, combines, or trucks down a stretch of rural road to reach a field. Driving a large piece of equipment on a highway is legal and often a necessary part of harvest; but it can pose a safety risk for both farmers and motorists without caution, courtesy, and patience.

Just in time for the 2016 harvest season, the Oregon Farm Bureau Health & Safety Committee presents its Rural Road Safety brochure, offering important information for staying safe when encountering large farm equipment on the highway.

"The goal of the brochure is to save lives," said Anne Rigor of the Oregon Farm Bureau Health & Safety Committee. "It's heartbreaking to hear about injuries or deaths involving farm equipment that could've been avoided if drivers had simply slowed down."

If a piece of large farm equipment must use a road, it is required to have a reflective, triangular, orange-and-red, slow-moving-vehicle sign displayed on its rear. This equipment is designed to travel at speeds of only 15 mph or 25 mph, and this symbol is a warning for the driver following it to slow down immediately.

"If you're driving 55 miles per hour on a highway and come upon a tractor that's moving at only 25 miles per hour, it takes only 8 seconds to close a gap the length of a football field between you and the tractor," said Rigor.

The brochure offers useful tips for the general public about how to share the road safely with farm equipment, the meaning of the triangular slow-moving-vehicle sign, and how the SMV sign is for use on slow-moving vehicles only.

"Many people don't realize that it's illegal to use a triangular slow-moving-vehicle sign as a driveway marker or a reflector on a stationary object," said Rigor.

Other tips for motorists include:

- * If you decide to pass farm equipment on the road, please do so with caution.
- * Be watchful of vehicles behind you that may also try to pass.
- * If you must enter the oncoming lane of traffic, do not proceed unless you can see clearly ahead of both you and the vehicle you will pass.
- * If there are any curves or hills ahead that may block your view or the view of oncoming vehicles, do not pass.
- * Do not pass if you are in a designated "No Passing Zone" or within 100 feet of any intersection, railroad grade crossing, bridge, elevation structure, or tunnel.
- * Do not assume that a farm vehicle that pulls to the right side of the road is going to turn right or is letting you pass. Due to the size of some farm implements, the farmer must make wide left-hand turns. If you are unsure, check the operator's hand signals and look at the left side of the road for gates, driveways,

"The brochure also includes information for farmers. For example, there are some good strategies about how to make their equipment more visible on the highway," said

Rigor.

The OFB Rural Road Safety brochure can be downloaded at www.oregonfb.org, or request as many free copies as you'd like from Anne Marie Moss, annemarie@oregonfb.org, 503.399.1701.

CCC Student Media Wins 15 Awards in State Competition

Student journalists at Clackamas Community College won 15 awards in the 2016 Collegiate Newspaper Contest. Among the awards was a first-place prize for news writing in the two-year school category for a story about the marijuana industry in Clackamas County.

The awards were presented by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association at the annual Collegiate Day held May 13 at the University of Oregon.

"I'm really proud of how well the Clackamas Print did this year," Megan McCoy, a student and co-editor in chief at the college's newspaper, said. "It's really important to have the news covered at Clackamas for the students, staff and the community to know. We've done a great job getting important stories out."

In addition to a first-place award in news writing, the Print's student journalists won first-place awards for its website, design, cartooning and special section.

The Print won second-place awards in writing, arts and culture, sports story and graphics.

Third-place awards were earned in headline writing, sports writing, review writing, column writing, photography and overall writing.

Dozens of students from Oregon colleges and universities traveled to Eugene on May 13 to take part in journalism workshops and the annual awards presentation.

Oregon City Debuts New Website Design June 1

On June 1, 2016, The City of Oregon City announced the launch of a new, redesigned version of its website, www.orcity.org. Key features of the site include mobile-friendly design for display on all connected devices, mapcentric listings for land use and construction projects, an improved search tool and calendar integration.

The site also continues use of the Citizen request application, OCRequest!, which allows citizens to report an issue from a mobile device, attach a photo and track the issue. The City is expanding its use of online payment forms and focusing on providing economic development and recreational activity information to citizens and the business community.

The City's website update process included design sessions from staff, citizens and involved many hours of work. CCC Graduation Ceremonies Held June 9 and 10

Clackamas Community College celebrated 2016 graduates in two ceremonies in June.

On Thursday, June 9, students earning Adult High School diplomas and General Educational Development (GED) certificates graduated. Students earning certificates and degrees graduated on Friday, June 10.

This year, CCC awarded 226 GEDs. The youngest graduate is 16 and the oldest is 60. Seventeen are receiving the Adult High School Diploma, with the youngest being 18 and the oldest 33. The college is awarding 1,566 degrees and certificates for the academic year. The youngest graduate is 17, and the oldest is 77 years old.

Each year the college recognizes students who have been nominated by their instructors for their accomplishments, along with former students and supporters in the community. This year's honorees included:

Patrick Smida was honored as a distinguished alumnus. A high school dropout, he came to CCC to earn his GED, continued his education and is now works for the college managing orientation and intake for its Adult Basic Education/GED program.

Aleksey (Alex) Mironov earned his GED from CCC while incarcerated at Clackamas County jail. He is on his way to be a certified recovery mentor.

Phil and Ginger Stevens were honored as distinguished friends of the college. They were honored for their many contributions to the college.

Jesse Finch Gnehm was honored as a distinguished alumnus. He is the first CCC alum to endow a scholarship with the CCC Foundation.

Carmen Allen and Adriana Castillo were this year's Oregon Community College Association scholars. Allen is pursuing a bachelor's degree in psychology and Castillo wants to teach at the college level.

Kathy Fredrickson has overcome learning obstacles and graduated with a certificate in human services and an associate's degree.

Nathan Gunkel, an Army veteran, graduated with an associate's degree in criminal justice. He wishes to continue that training at Portland State University (PSU) to focus on crisis intervention.

Robert Rutherford has been a leader of the college's STEM Club, which is now the largest organization of its kind by membership on campus. He wishes to attend PSU and join the student branch of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

Brent Finkbeiner, Associated Student Government president, is transferring to PSU to study business management and leadership.

Both graduation ceremonies took place at 7 p.m. The Adult High School Diploma and GED ceremony were in the Gregory Forum and the degree and certificate ceremony was held in the Randall gym on the Oregon City Campus, 19600 Molalla Ave.

County Dog Services Promotes Tips on Keeping Pets Cool and Safe

With temperatures rising, Clackamas County Dog Services is advising all residents to be aware of the importance of keeping their pets cool.

Dog Services Shelter Supervisor Tamara Moxon states "It's essential to remember that dogs and cats don't sweat like people do. They eliminate heat through their mouth (by panting) and the pads of their feet, and can overheat quickly."

To keep pets safe on hot days:

Never leave a pet in a parked car. Temperatures inside a car can soar quickly to dangerous levels even if the outside temperature is in the 70s.

Leave your pet at home during warm or hot weather.

Be sure your pet has access to shade or a cool room, and to cool drinking water.

Walk your dog early or late in the day.

Prevent sunburn by keeping your pet out of the sun from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and applying pet-approved sunblock on unprotected areas.

Watch for heatstroke! Heavy panting, staring, high fever, rapid heartbeat, vomiting, collapse and disobedience are signs of heatstroke. If suspected, call a veterinarian immediately and apply water-soaked towels to hairless areas of the animal's body to lower its temperature.

Mulino Road to be Closed July 25 - Aug 19

Clackamas County will stabilize the Milk Creek streambank at milepost 4.3 on Mulino Road during July and August. In order to complete the work, Mulino Road will be closed between Fish Road and Lilli Lane from Monday, July 25, through Friday, Aug. 19.

Road closure and detour signs will be posted two weeks in advance. The road will be closed to all traffic including emergency vehicles, postal vehicles, garbage trucks and school buses.

Bank erosion on Milk Creek in the area caused a failure of the guardrail when it was struck by a vehicle. The embankment fix will stabilize the streambank and add more shoulder to the road, which will help absorb shock and maintain the guardrail in the case of future vehicle strikes.

Clackamas County Recertifies May 17 Election

Clackamas County elections officials announced Thursday, June 14, 2016, that a box containing 341 ballots – including some from Multnomah and Washington counties – were discovered earlier in the week during a final inventory of election equipment.

Officials have determined that the ballots were received before the 8 p.m. deadline for receiving ballots in the May 17 election and are valid.

The ballots were returned to the appropriate jurisdictions and after consultation with the Secretary of State, all of the ballots were counted and the elections results have been amended to reflect the new vote totals.

The newly-counted ballots did not affect the outcome of any race or ballot measure.

"I am sorry that this error occurred. But once it was discovered, we acted immediately to notify the affected counties and worked through the Secretary of State to resolve this issue," said Clackamas County Clerk Sherry Hall. "None of the election results were adversely affected and the election results in all three counties have been amended."

Clackamas County election officials are investigating how the oversight occurred and indicated that it was likely that a box was placed in the wrong location.

New measures are being put into place to ensure there is clearer documentation of ballot inventories and that all ballot boxes are inventoried and counted as they are received.

Take a Musical Journey at Contemporary Voices Summer Camp

The Clackamas Community College Music Department is offering the Contemporary Voices Summer Music Camp, July 18-22.

People of all musical skill levels are encouraged to participate in the third annual summer workshop, directed by Dr. Kathleen Hollingsworth, CCC's director of vocal music. The camp is open to all singers and musicians who wish to immerse themselves in a five-day creative journey that fosters musical growth and inspiration.

Camp participants will have the opportunity to:

Sing in The Big Choir

Participate in improvisational circle singing Song write

Learn and understand practical music theory Work with guest musicians

Camp begins at 9 a.m. and runs until 5 p.m. From 6 to 9 p.m. participants can work with CCC studio producers Brian Rose and Sacha Müller and participate in evening recording sessions. Students can record original compositions and play on other campers' tracks.

"CVSMC is a unique program that focuses on contemporary music," Hollingsworth said. "Our goal is to bring out the authenticity in our young singers. No other summer camp in Oregon offers this kind of diversity while at the same time providing the opportunity for musicians to learn how to use studio equipment and leave with a studio recording."

Cost is $150, with an additional $50 fee for the evening segment of the camp. A limited number of scholarships are available.

Oregon Announces Preliminary Health Rate Decisions

Beginning June 17, 2016, Oregon consumers can see the State's preliminary decisions for 2017 individual and small employer health insurance rates. The Department of Consumer and Business Services must approve any rates before they can be charged to policyholders.

These preliminary decisions were to undergo continued review and discussion through public hearings being held in Salem and streamed online June 22-23. The public comment period remained open through Friday, June 24. There will be a dedicated public comment period during each public rate hearing. For a schedule of hearings and to submit comments online, visit www.oregonhealthrates.org.

Health insurance rates are an estimate of future expenses, including medical and prescription drug claims costs and administrative expenses. These estimates are based on historical data and forecasts of future trends.

The department reviews rates to ensure they are reasonable and actuarially sound -- meaning they are sufficient to cover costs so that health insurance companies can pay claims, but not excessive. After reviewing 2017 rate proposals, the department made a few adjustments, but concluded most rates were reasonable based on projected expenses for 2017.

In the individual market, the division's preliminary rate decisions range from an average rate increase of 9.8 percent to an average rate increase of 32 percent, depending on the insurance company. Under the preliminary decisions, Silver Standard Plan premiums for a 40-year-old in Portland would range from $312 to $442 a month.

In the small group market, the division's preliminary rate decisions range from an average rate decrease of 8.9 percent to an average rate increase of 17 percent. Silver Standard Plan premiums for a 40-year-old in Portland would range from $266 to $362 a month.

Click this link for company-specific information: http://www.oregon.gov/DCBS/Insurance/news/Documents/2016/june172016-attachment.pdf

"Our preliminary decisions reflect some instances where we believe assumptions were not fully justified or not reasonable," said Laura Cali, insurance commissioner and administrator of the department's Division of Financial Regulation. "However, we generally see the need for rates to increase in order for insurers to be able to meet their obligations to policyholders."

Factors for the rate increases include:

- * State and Federal "reinsurance" programs, designed to help insurers offset the risk of insuring more people who now have access to coverage, are ending in 2016.
- * Medical costs continue to rise, driven by increased utilization and advances in prescription drugs and medical technology.
- * Costs have exceeded premiums in recent years, so insurers have less capacity to absorb more losses.

"Health reform has provided access to insurance coverage for more Oregonians, which has been a positive for the health of our State," said Patrick Allen, DCBS director. "However, factors that have more to do with provider costs, such as prescription drugs and contracts with specialty providers like hospitals and dialysis centers, are increasing important factors that are not dealt with through insurance rate regulation."

Preliminary decision information for each carrier can be found at www.oregonhealthrates.org.

The proposed rates are for plans that comply with the Affordable Care Act for small businesses and individuals who buy their own coverage rather than getting it through an employer. Final decisions were to be released July 1 after the Bulletin went to press. It is hoped there will be more information for the August issue.

Clackamas Rep Performs "One Slight Hitch"

The Clackamas Repertory Theatre premieres "One Slight Hitch," Thursday, June 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Niemeyer Osterman Theatre on the Oregon City campus, 19600 Molalla Ave.

Come enjoy the comedy about a wedding day gone completely and spectacularly awry. Written by comedian Lewis Black, the play trades his traditionally morose humor for witty banter and snappy one-liners. Black, known for his cynicism on "The Daily Show," began his career as a playwright. The genesis for "One Slight Hitch" was a real-life event in Black's life. Black was in love with a woman who insisted that she would never marry. While out of town on a business trip, Black received a phone call from his partner, when she announced her engagement to another man.

In this production, it is Courtney's wedding day, and her mom, Delia, is making sure everything is perfect. The groom is perfect, the dress is perfect and the decorations, when they finally arrive, will be perfect. Then, the doorbell rings. So much for perfect.

"The foibles of the play's characters make the story more relatable," managing director Cyndy Smith-English said. "I mean, we've all been through weddings where the mothers are a little neurotic and the fathers just want it to end and then the unexpected happens. Everything goes wrong and we get to experience how everyone deals with it."

The CRT production features:

Drammy award-winning actor Dennis Kelly as the exboyfriend, Cyndy Smith-English as the unhinged motherof-the-bride, Sam Levi as the groom, March Schwahn as the dad, Heather Ovalle as the tipsy sister and Christina Holtom in her CRT debut as the bride.

The play is directed by Clackamas Repertory company member Jayne Stevens. The performances are Thursday through Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with a Sunday matinee at 2:30 p.m. The show runs June 30 through July 24.

For ticket prices and purchase, visit www.clackamasrep. org. For more information, call 503-594-3915.

Got A Sweet Tooth? Love Homemade Chocolate Chip and Peanut Butter Cookies?

If the heading above sounds like you then you will be in for a treat at the 6th annual Beavercreek Flea Market & Craft Fair that will be held on Saturday, July 16th at the Korner Park in downtown Beavercreek.

On that day the Beavercreek Grange will be on hand in the gazebo with all sorts of delectable delights. The Grange is well known for their homemade chocolate chip and peanut butter cookies. These savory morsels are often available at events held at the Grange. The bakers of the Grange know their way around a kitchen and use their culinary talents to bake up scrumptious morsels to delight young and old alike.

This year they have decided to ramp it up a notch and add ice cream to the mix! Yummy! You will be able to choose between ice cream, chocolate chip cookies, peanut butter cookies, or, and this seemed like a no brainer, ice cream sandwiches with your cookie of choice! I can hardly wait.

Fireworks Ordinance 15-01

Clackamas Fire District #1 has adopted Ordinance 15-01, which authorizes the Fire District to prohibit the use, explosion or discharge of fireworks. The intent of this Ordinance is to temporarily ban the use, explosion or discharge of fireworks during times of elevated fire danger. This ban would be imposed only when weather conditions create an elevated level of fire danger that the District has declared as High or Extreme.

The temporary ban would be imposed to help prevent property loss and personal injuries caused by fireworks.

For more information on fireworks safety or the adopted Ordinance 15-01, please contact our Fire Prevention Division at 503.742.2660.

Another Successful Strawberry Festival!

Thank you Beavercreek!! The Annual Strawberry Festival Dinner, Silent Auction and Raffle at the "Ten O'Clock Church" was a big success again this year.

The dinner, under the direction of Chef Josie Evans, was so delicious and her famous scalloped potatoes were pure comfort food. The Strawberry Shortcake was mouth watering and we want to, again, thank Albeke Farms for donating the wonderful strawberries.

Also, a big Thank You to the team of Pam Owens, Steve Leveque and Theresa Reynolds for making the Silent Auction and Raffle so successful. There was an amazing variety of items and we are truly grateful for all of their hard work. Thank you to everyone who donated items or services to this important fundraiser and the many people who volunteered their time to make this another great event. Thank you to Jan Wallinder for her expertise in gathering all the volunteers and Kathy Lottmann for handling the advertising. The proceeds will help the church's many missions including our Food Pantry and Summer Camp Youth Programs.

Recognition and another big Thank You goes to BCT for their help in advertising with colorful flyers, two big roadside signs, table bidding sheets, and other donations to the auction. We also want to thank Sharon Charlson and the Beavercreek Bulletin for their continual help with all our event advertising.

But most of all, "THANK YOU" to all those community members who came to our event. We couldn't have done it without you. We hope everyone had a great time and we look forward to seeing you at our Strawberry Shortcake and Ice Cream Sundaes Booth at the BCT SummerFest on July 9. (15223 S. Henrici Rd., 8 am - 6 pm).

Plan and Plant A Great Pollinator Habitat!

If you have listened to news reports over the last few years, you probably know that pollinators are in trouble. They have had a serious decline in population due to habitat loss and chemical issues. So now that we know this, let us take some time to fill in the specifics of how we can provide good habitat for pollinators.

Consider these few details to make your pollinator garden or patch the most successful habitat possible!

Grouping

Plant a grouping of the same plant that is at least three feet in diameter. A block of flowers provides several benefits such as requiring less energy for the bee or other pollinator to fly from flower to flower. Brightly colored groupings are easier to spot when a pollinator is looking for food. In addition, it gives you a better chance for you to provide enough food to sustain the pollinator population present at your location.

Distance

You may not have considered this, but not all bees can fly the same distance. Small bees such as the sweat bee may fly no more than 200 yards, whereas a large bee such as a bumble bee is able to fly a mile or more. Therefore, it makes sense to have your pollinator patches near the crops you want to have pollinated. Berry fields or backyard apple tree, it makes no difference because the concepts are the same!

Diversity

Diversity is the key to pollinator habitat! Because there is a difference in physical features, not all pollinators can access the nectar and pollen of every flower. Differences in size, length of tongue, and mouthparts all dictate what types of flower can provide food for a pollinator. Bumble bees are large enough to push their way into a complex flower, but a pollinator such as a fly with short mouthparts will require a small, open flower such as yarrow or a daisy.

You should plan for a variety of flower size, shape, color, and height in your planting. Include plants with tubular flowers and complex flowers like tall lobelia and lupine; throw in some simple flowers such as asters and cosmos. Try plants that are low to the ground plants such as alyssum, medium size plants such as lavender and Echinacea and tall plants such as sunflowers. Do not forget flowering shrubs such as ceanothus and red flowering currants!

One last important detail to remember...make sure something is blooming all season long, from early spring to late fall. Your local pollinator will appreciate you!

Clackamas County Fair Wants You To Enter In The Fair

kids only. They have a large array of Public Competition Divisions! Public Competitions are a great way for kids and adults to share their talents, hobbies and farms with the community.

What is a Public Competition Exhibit?

Public Competition refers to the various departments or categories in which the public can enter their item(s), project(s) or livestock to be exhibited (placed on display) at the fair. Submissions to public competitions are judged by department (category) and awards are made to both youth and adults in each department.

Who Can Participate in Public Competitions?

Participation is open to all ages, depending on the department (category), review the exhibitor handbook instructions for each department (category). We are an open county fair -- so anyone is invited to enter! To submit an item for public competition, you do not have to be involved in an organization such as a club, 4-H, or a school-run program.

Individuals can submit items in multiple classes. Check out the EXHIBITOR HANDBOOK on our website for instructions and definitions.

Not all categories have entry fees -- check the specific division in which you are entering for specific information regarding entry fees.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU AT CLACKA-MAS COUNTY FAIR! For more information visit www. ClackamasCountyEventCenter.com.

Value Added Producer and Organic Certification Cost-Share Grants Available

Local food producers, beginning farmers and organic growers in Oregon are eligible for a number of grants with upcoming deadlines.

Organic Certification Cost-Share Reimbursement Grants - The Oregon Department of Agriculture has Organic Certification Cost Share Reimbursement Grants for farmers and ranchers who receive or renew organic certification between October 1, 2015 to September 30, 2016. Operations are eligible for up to 75% of organic certification costs, up to $750 per certification or category of certification per year.

Additionally, USDA recently expanded its low-interest Farm Storage Facility Loan Program to help small farmers serving local markets finance portable storage structures, portable equipment, and storage and handling trucks in addition to stationary on-farm crop and cold storage facilities. This includes a new streamlined loan application process with less paperwork for small farm storage facility loans.

Demolition Makes Way For CCC Harmony Phase II

In preparation for the construction of Harmony Phase II, Clackamas Community College will begin demolition of the former Oregon Institute of Technology (OIT) building on Harmony Road the week of July 5.

The $21.7-million project, which will be completed fall of 2017, is funded through a voter-approved bond as well as an $8 million match from the State of Oregon. The new facility will allow CCC to continue to grow its Health Science, workforce development and general education offerings in the North Clackamas area.

In November 2014, voters approved a $90-million bond measure to expand opportunities for students and increase the skilled workforce in the community. This funding is being used to update and expand college classrooms and labs and modernize equipment to meet industry standards. Passage of the bond also resulted in CCC receiving $16 million in state matching funds, which will be used to support the Harmony project as well as the upcoming Industrial Technical Center on the Oregon City Campus.

Harmony Phase II will replace the 61-year-old former OIT/ Dale Ickes Junior High building on the Harmony Community Campus with an updated workforce development and training facility. The new building will be three floors and total 43,634 square feet, featuring classrooms, labs, community event space and a bookstore.

Harmony Phase II is enrolled in the Energy Trust of Oregon's Path to Net Zero Program, investigating smart, sustainable solutions for energy efficiency. It is designed to perform beyond the Oregon Energy Code requirements to meet carbon reduction, The 2030 Challenge, which challenges all new buildings be carbon-neutral by 2030.

"The bond projects, like the one on the Harmony Community Campus, will ensure students in our district have opportunities to train for in-demand, family-wage jobs and to pursue transfer degrees," CCC Board of Education Member Greg Chaimov said. Chaimov represents Zone 1, which includes the Milwaukie area.

CCC gave former OIT and Dale Ickes Junior High students a chance to bid it farewell in March during an open house. Citizen Oversight Committee members, who provide oversight on the implementation of the bond measure, led the charge to honor the building's past, advocating for the preservation and repurposing of elements from the building.

Construction of the Harmony Phase II will begin this later this summer. Watch the demolition and construction on a webcam (http://dwpwebcams.com/ccc/), which is updated with a new photo every 10 minutes. For more information about the CCC bond projects, visit www.clackamas.edu/ BondInformation.

Happy 4th of July!

The June meeting of the Hamlet of Beavercreek was held at the Beavercreek Grange, located at 22041 S. Kamrath Road on Wednesday, June 22, 2016, with 25 guests and members in attendance.

There was no guest speaker for this meeting.

This was a very quick meeting as there were no land use applications to discuss.

However, it was announced that the Oregon City Golf Club has asked to be annexed into Oregon City. This came on the heels of a new law that allows for annexations to take place without a vote of the people. This would put the golf course's land into the infamous Beavercreek Road Concept Plan that has yet to be approved. It would allow apartments and other high density residential construction. The golf course would be removed to make way for the development. It will add to the already heavy traffic on Beavercreek Road and make it harder for Beavercreek residents to get to work and back home.

A report was given on the progress of the new Carnegie Library by Claire Kellogg. In July, the library will close in order to facilitate moving the contents of the old library into the new addition in order to allow for the remodeling of the old building. It is hoped that when the old part of the building is finished and everything is moved back into the building it will reopen in September.

The Oregon City Library Foundation is asking for our help. We can help them meet a challenge issued by The Collins Foundation, the result of which will be an additional $25,000 towards the library building campaign.

Donations of $100 or more received between December 8, 2015 and September 1, 2016 qualify for the matching funds. The Collins Foundation will match the first $100 of each donation of $100 or more, up to a total of $25,000.

Recognition for your donation

In addition to leveraging your contribution and helping secure the additional $25,000, you will be recognized with the name of your choice in the new library. For $100, it will be displayed on a replica of a historic card catalog drawer front in the original Carnegie space. For $1,000, a larger recognition sign will be placed on the end of a stack. The naming opportunities are many and varied. Explore http://www.oclibraryfoundation.org/ to see them all and to learn about the OC Library Foundation's goals and mission.

You may also contribute by sending a check or your credit card information to Oregon City Library Foundation, P.O. Box 1791, Oregon City, OR 97045.

Bill Merchant reminded those present that Board elections will be in October. If you are interested in being on the Board of the Hamlet, please call the Hamlet phone line at 503-632-8370 and leave a message.

Reports were given regarding the summer's activities including the Flea Market & Craft Sale that will take place on Saturday, July 16th at the Korner Park in downtown Beavercreek from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., the "Movie in the Park" that will be showing "Minions", also at the same location on July 30th, also at the Korner Park at dusk. Come early. The Hamlet's "Stars in the Park Concert" that will be held on August 13th at the same location beginning at 400 p.m. The concert is part of the Hamlet of Beavercreek's tenth anniversary celebration.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the monthly Hamlet Community meetings and the quarterly Town Hall meetings to participate and share ideas and concerns on the issues pertinent to our community. Members 18 years of age and older who live, own a business, or property within the Hamlet area may vote on Hamlet issues. The Hamlet of Beavercreek Boundary Map is located online at http://goo.gl/maps/Vr5w1.

The Community meetings take place on the fourth Wednesday of the month at the Beavercreek Grange on Kamrath Rd at 7:00 p.m. The Town Hall Meetings will occur every quarter. For more information, please call the Hamlet Information Line at 503-632-8370 or visit the Hamlet web site at http://HamletOfBeavercreek.org.

See you next month...
