Assume...don't!

It became apparent to us, your BCCP committee volunteers, when putting pen to paper on this, the third issue of the Beaver Creek Bulletin, that we are "assuming" the citizens of Beaver Creek knows all about the BCCP. In order to correct this mistake, this month's feature article will provide a history, description, beliefs and current activities of the BCCP as follows:

The Beaver Creek Committee for Community Planning

In 1997 Metro identified and included areas 25 and 26 (the Beaver Creek area) as Urban Growth Boundary Reserves.

On September 10, 1997 a Beaver Creek community meeting was held. Two volunteer member committees were formed - the Beaver Creek Committee for Community Planning (BCCP) and Keep Beaver Creek Rural (KBR). The objectives for each were:

BCCP - to educate itself and then educate the citizens of Beaver Creek regarding its options for representation and planning and decision-making authority.

KBR - to utilize the intervention process in an attempt to try to remove areas 25 and 26 as Urban Growth Boundary Reserves.

From September to March the BCCP educated itself regarding the options Beaver Creek has in order to secure representation at all levels of government and to have planning and decision making authority regarding its future. The BCCP also incorporated as a committee, filed for 501C3 non-profit corporation status and obtained insurance.

In March of 1998, three community meetings were held by the BCCP to share what it had learned. 402 citizens attended. A survey was distributed. 189 surveys were returned. 139 of those surveys asked the BCCP to bring the Incorporation of Beaver Creek as a city to election.

Today the BCCP is fundraising, completing an Economic Feasibility Study, monitoring the activities of, and are actively involved with, Oregon City, Clackamas County, Metro and the State of Oregon, and communicating with the citizens of Beaver Creek. It is the goal of the BCCP to bring the Incorporation of Beaver Creek as a city to general election in November, 2000.

It is the belief of the BCCP that growth is inevitable. Even though we would like Beaver Creek to stay just the way it is, we believe that desire is unrealistic. Beaver Creek has been, is and will continue to grow at a very quick pace. For Beaver Creek to maintain a rural setting while managing its growth can only be accomplished through long term, careful planning.

Beavercreek has been governed by Clackamas County and unless Beavercreek incorporates as a city, future governance will be expanded to include Metro and annexation by Oregon City.

The BCCP clearly understands that running a city is a huge responsibility. But who better to "run" Beavercreek than the people who live in and love Beavercreek the most?

The BCCP is dedicated and committed to establishing the ability of Beavercreek to study, plan and implement its future through the incorporation as a city. Our motto is...

“Planning for the Future with a Look of the Past”

CPO SPOTLIGHT

The October meeting of the Beavercreek Community Planning Organization took place October 28, 1998 at the Grange. Ron Weiman from the Clackamas County Road Dept was the speaker. He shared with the members the counties road capital improvement schedule. Everyone is welcome to come to the meetings. It's your CPO! For info call 632-8370.
